Portus

Ever found yourself needing to check on something at home when you're not there? Keep an eye on what your kids, or pets, are up to? Or turn something off that you think you might have left on? Now there's a way.

Portus brings you the world's most comprehensive, affordable and easy to use solution for monitoring and controlling your home from any location - Portus Home.

Now you can be sure that your loved ones are safe and your home secure, no matter where you are. More than that, Portus Home will manage your home environment and reduce your energy consumption. And it ushers new levels of convenience, by giving you one touch control over your home appliances and lighting, leaving you more time to relax and enjoy life.

what you want to see

Portus Home lets you see what's happening in your home when you're not there. Whether you need to check on your kids at home after school, or just look in on your pets, Portus Home lets you view your home from wherever you are, through either your mobile phone or Internet browser. Portus Home provides you real-time access to view what's going on at home through any Portus Home wireless cameras you have installed.

Portus Home gives you the same viewpoint when you're home as well. You can use Portus Home from wall-mounted touch panels, your phone, PDA or PC. It lets you see what's happening around your home, while you're home, so you can keep an eye on things while in another room, or even from your garden.

Portus Home also lets you capture live footage, allowing you to record from any of your cameras directly into your secure personal storage area.

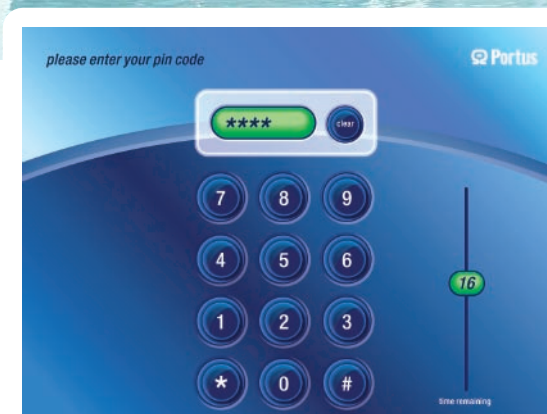

what you need to know

Portus Home helps keep your home or vacation property secure when you're away. With a range of wireless door, window and occupancy sensors available, in addition to camera motion detection, your Portus Home system will notify you instantly if an intrusion is detected. You can configure your system to send you alerts via SMS, email or voicemail. With the addition of smoke and safety sensors, Portus Home will also keep you informed of any event that might endanger your property.

Portus Home gives you the same protection while you're home, raising an alarm if there is any attempt to access areas you have secured. Portus Home allows you to define different zones within your property, and arm each zone separately, just as you can with a traditional security system. In addition to sending alerts, you can configure your system to instantly turn lights on and activate security strobes or sirens in the manner you desire.

If you have installed Portus Home wireless cameras as part of your setup, your Portus Home system will automatically record video of any unauthorized entry and upload this information to your personal online storage where it can be inspected when needed.

what you want to save

Portus Home not only brings security and reassurance to your life, but it works actively to reduce your household energy consumption and put money back in your pocket. By inserting Portus Home power monitor appliance modules between an appliance and the power outlet, you can monitor its current power usage, consumption history and energy costs.

Portus Home is also introducing energy management functions that intelligently take into account the status of your home environment to reduce power consumption without interfering with your comfort levels. So not only will you save on energy bills, but you will have the reassurance of knowing that you have done as much as you can to reduce your contribution to global warming.

how you want to live

Portus Home brings total convenience to your life. It lets you control your home environment, wherever you are. With Portus Home, you can activate your heating or cooling or turn on your lights before you arrive home. While you're home, you can control your complete home environment and lighting from your arm chair. You can instantly set your lighting in any zone in your home to your mood and the scenes that you have predefined. And when you leave the house, an instant ALL OFF feature saves you the time and hassle of having to switch everything off manually.

Portus Home gives you access to an affordable easy-to-install range of wireless appliance and dimmer modules, wall switches and thermostats that enable this kind of control. With Portus Home, you will never again find yourself worrying whether you left the iron on when you are half way to your vacation.

your portus home system

Portus Home customers can choose between basic and advanced gateway-based starter kits. Portus Home gateway-based starter kits are fully independent systems that do not require a PC for operation and are based on Portus' DIAS Z-Series Connected Home gateway, which integrates Z-Wave, Wi-Fi, Ethernet and USB connectivity and provides full home gateway capabilities.

Portus Home has a browser-based user interface that runs on any compatible device with a browser and network access, either in or away from the home, including mobile phones, touch panels, PDAs and PCs. No matter which device you use, the Portus user interface is always the same, so you never have to learn new ways to control your home just because you need to use a different access platform.

The Portus Home solution is a fully integrated wireless solution that connects to your existing broadband or cable modem to provide remote access to your home. All Portus Home components, including the Portus Home gateway, cameras, appliance modules, security and environment sensors, are wireless and a breeze to install, with a typical self-install possible in 30 minutes or less.

With a money back guarantee, Portus Home is your ticket to total peace of mind, leaving you time to relax and enjoy the things in your life that matter most to you.
